

The wedding of Sarah & Ewan on 2nd April 2005 at Queen's Cross Church then Norwood Hall Hotel.

These and the following two pages consist of a letter from the Bride & Groom and extracts of various letters from guests.

Dear Margaret,

15th May 2005.

Just a wee note to thank you so much for helping to make our wedding day so special. We don't think it would have gone quite so smoothly if we'd had to organise it all ourselves from down here in Livingston. It was great coming up to Aberdeen before the wedding, safe in the knowledge that everything had been so well organised prior to our arrival. It meant that we could enjoy our weekend visits to Aberdeen before the wedding without having to worry what still had to be done - you had it all in hand.

Ewan and I had a fabulous day on the 2nd of April, not only because it was our wedding day and the sun was shining (which always helps), but also because we were happy in the knowledge that everything would run like clockwork thanks to your meticulous planning and attention to detail. We also appreciated the numerous savings you were able to negotiate on our behalf. You also allowed us to be able to sit back, relax and enjoy our day without any worries whatsoever that anything would go wrong. Even a few of our friends commented on how relaxed and happy we both were, (at least after the ceremony and Ewan after his speech was over!).

Thank you once again for helping to make our day so great and special. We both certainly had the best day of our lives without a doubt. Our guests also seemed to have had a great time if their comments were anything to go by.

It wouldn't have been possible without you and we certainly would have no hesitation in recommending you to anyone looking for the perfect wedding.

Sarah & Ewan Wilson
